

CONDITIONS OF USE

Access to this website (the "Website") entails acceptance of the following terms and conditions. These terms and conditions may be updated and/or modified at any time and at the sole discretion of Fidis S.p.A. ("Fidis") without any need to provide notice to users.

Access to the Website and use of the related contents No responsibility of any kind is taken on by Fidis in relation to users' access to the Website or to their use of the related contents.

CONTENTS OF THE WEBSITE

All the contents of the Website (by way of example: news, photos, videos, sounds, brands, logos, domain names, application software, graphical layouts, technical documentation and manuals, etc.) and the rights related to them are reserved. These contents may therefore be consulted solely for personal information purposes, since any other use is expressly forbidden without prior written agreement from Fidis. Although all reasonable care is used in collecting and presenting the information contained on this Website, no guarantee is given regarding its accuracy, completeness, utility, nor regarding its possible uses by users; Fidis therefore expressly excludes all responsibility for errors, inaccuracies, or omissions relating to this data. Some pages of the Website may contain information regarding future programs and intentions, which are sometimes described using terms such as "expect", "estimate", "forecast", "envisage" and "plan". Such statements by their nature do not entail any commitment by Fidis, which therefore, in relation to them, does not take on any responsibility for their realisation.

INTELLECTUAL AND INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY

All the contents of the Website - including the brands mentioned or reproduced on the Website, the designs and patents relating to the products, where present on the Website - are subject to the laws of copyright and to the other laws in force on protecting intellectual and industrial property and, therefore, it is forbidden to reproduce, change or use them, in full or in part, without prior written agreement from Fidis or the related assignees.

RESPONSIBILITY

Fidis does not assume any responsibility regarding the information and indications contained on the Website pages. Fidis cannot be considered responsible for any direct or indirect damage, including loss of earnings, arising from using or the impossibility of using the Website and its contents, or websites connected directly or indirectly to it, as well as omissions or errors.

THIRD-PARTY INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

This website is managed by Fidis. Fidis respects third-party intellectual property rights. Some materials on the Website could be published and made available on the Website by third parties without authorisation from Fidis. Fidis' policy does not allow the continued presence of materials which violate third-party rights and the accounts of users who violate these rights will be cancelled, once Fidis becomes aware of the related violation. If a user believes that any of the materials present on the Website violated any of their rights, the same user must send Fidis a note containing the following information:

- i. identification of the violated right or, should there be more than one violation, the list of all the violations found;
- ii. identification of the material contained on the Website which violates the above right(s) and which it is wished to remove or disable, together with information to enable Fidis to identify the object of the violation(s);
- iii. the data needed to contact the owner of the violated right(s), including the address, phone number and, if available, email;
- iv. a statement asserting that use of the material in question has not been authorised by the holder of the right(s), by their agents or legal representatives;
- v. a statement asserting that the information communicated to Fidis is accurate and, in the knowledge that in the case of an untrue declaration there will be penal sanctions, that they hold the authorisation to proceed on behalf of the holder of the violated right(s);
- vi. a real or digital signature of the person authorised to proceed on behalf of the holder of the violated right(s).

The above note must be sent by registered post to the following address:

Fidis S.p.A.
Corso Agnelli 200
10135 Turin

APPLICABLE LAW AND JURISDICTION

Without prejudice to any right that users enjoy by virtue of other national or international laws, these conditions for using the Website are subject to Italian legislation and will be interpreted pursuant to the same (except for its provisions on legal conflicts), including any dispute regarding the existence, validity and effectiveness of these Website conditions of use and any other agreement which refers to them. Within the above limits, the competent court to hear any dispute arising in reference to these Website conditions of use, as well as any other agreement which refers to them, will be the court of Turin.